After the scores were added, it was found that Mrs. Ivan Rosenberg was the winner and for her skillful playing was awarded a dainty pin cushion. Rose, who was always considered a gracious hostess, served at her best and all declared that her refreshments were "hard to beat." The club members accepted Mrs. Macie Golden's invitation to meet at her home Thursday next.

Miss Gladys Samuels was given the prize for having the most progressions while Mr. Louis Levy won the gentleman's prize for his successful playing. The consolation prize fell to Mr. Aaron Samuels. An ice course was served at the conclusion of the game. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing, which lasted until the wee sma' hours of the morning. The Y. M. H. A. entertained with a dance at the home of Messrs. Sol and Abe Jacobs last Wednesday night. The crowd soon voted that August was too hot for dancing and car

HATRED VANISHES IN HOLY LAND.

Natives of Jerusalem declare that the Biblical prediction of a day when the lion and the lamb would lie down together has about reached this quarter of the globe. For the first time in the history of the Holy Land, Christians, Moslems and Jews are working side by side in industrial work rooms which were opened by the American Red Cross Commission to Palestine. Racial and religious hatred and suspicion are being forgotten by the men and women refugees of the war, who are toiling together, says the Jerusalem correspondent to the American "Red Cross Bulletin."

One of the greatest needs of the people of Jerusalem has been clothing. Another great need has been employment for religious pilgrims who were stranded in the historic city in 1914. The American Red Cross therefore arranged with the British government to establish looms for hand weaving in an old street known as the cotton market. Fifteen shops and one large building, formerly a mill, were rented, and twenty-eight looms were furnished by the Red Cross.

To put the work on a permanent commercial basis, a native, Shukiri Batato, was put in charge of the enterprise. Cloth from Red Cross workshops at Gaza and weaving thread were supplied, and weaving was begun. The looms not only are giving employment to a great many persons, but are providing an output of cloth of good quality which can be sold at reasonable prices. Of equal importance is the spirit of good feeling which is growing up among the people of different religions and races.

Plans are being made to permit a certain number of apprentices to learn the art of hand weaving in the shops, and a special sum of money has been furnished by the British government for this purpose. The sales from the shops have been good, and it is believed that the business will prove successful.

MIZRACHI ACTIVITIES IN POLAND.

The Second Annual Convention of the Polish Mizrachi Organization was held recently at Warsaw. Over three hundred delegates from all parts of Poland attended. Mr. Podlishevski, the representative of the World Zionist Organization greeted the convention on behalf of that body. Plans were formulated to reorganize the Jewish Communal Schools. Important resolutions affecting the policy and activities of the Polish Mizrachi were adopted.

The Mizrachi Organization of Poland is now publishing a weekly paper in Hebrew, called the "Mizrachi," under the editorship of Isaac Nisenbaum the famous Hebrew writer. This publication is expected to be a vital factor in the spread of the Mizrachi ideals and their popularization amongst the Orthodox Jewish masses of Poland.
